

Colour code the following effects of tourism:

Positive Economic Positive Social Positive Environmental

Negative Economic Negative Social Negative Environmental

Jobs in hotels and bars.	House prices increase too fast.	Low paid seasonal holiday jobs only.
Money for hospitals and schools.	Builders get a lot of work i	The cost of building rises.
Infrastructure, like power and water supplies connected.	The cost of living for local people rises.	Foreigners get jobs, e.g. lifeguard instead of local people.
Wildlife has died.	Foreign investment.	Litter on beaches.
Demand for locally produced souvenirs.	Poorly paid jobs in the service industry.	Drunk people fighting in the streets at night.
Modernisation of airports, roads and ports.	Discos and bars open 'til late, and very noisy all night.	Birdlife has flown off as habitat destroyed.
Farm land is lost - some farmers lose their jobs and homes and the food supply is reduced.	Kenyan people living in the National Parks have been forced to leave their homes.	Animals can get put off feeding, drinking and mating if there are minibuses very close.
The money that tourists bring in goes to the government, not to the local people.	Minibus drivers get good tips if they drive off the paths and get really close to the animals.	Local people can make souvenirs to sell to the tourists.
Beaches and sheltered lagoons may be polluted.	Lots of minibuses driving on the dirt tracks can create lots of dust/mud and soil erosion.	Hot air balloons have loud gas burners which make a lot of noise.
Tourism can create lots of jobs	Vegetation is cleared to make way for big hotels.	Minibus drivers take tourists to the animals.
Cause waste and pollution	Tourists eat the local food and drink the local drink	Be educational for the tourists
Teach people about the heritage and culture of the area.	Involve wild late night parties in Lloret de Mar	Allow tourists to 'observe' local people in their native habitat
Money from tourism has helped to improve roads, houses, schools and hospitals.	Endanger the survival of local animal and plant life e.g. rainforest	Enable profits from tourist to reach local people

